

Judging of Culinary Exhibits Proves Pleasant and Exacting Task; Form Tasting Committee

There was much ado about a great many things at the women's building on the fair grounds Wednesday. The fair association scheduled Wednesday as club day and even the threatening weather did not daunt the club women of South Bend, Mishawaka and the vicinity. The women's building proved the popular rendezvous on the fair grounds for more reasons than one. The exceptionally well arranged displays of women's handicraft, of course, was the primary reason and excuse for much friendly chatter. The work of the judges which was nearing completion late Wednesday afternoon came in for its share of comment from the club groups.

It was evident that the task of the judges this year was a very exacting one for the specimens submitted in practically all cases embodied all the good qualities that the most critical judges could demand. However, in a large measure, the judges were compensated by forming themselves into a tasting committee of the culinary masterpieces. The work of the judges, according to universal comment from exhibitors and visitors has been very fair and just.

The awards made by the judges in the women's section on Tuesday and Wednesday follow:
